TUAREG CROSS

This summer we are passing a special cross among the students. Nathan first received this cross from his sister after her trip to Mali, West Africa in the early 90's. The Tuareg Cross is a special cross that is an ancient symbol dating back thousands of years. The Tuareg people would pass this symbol from the fathers to the sons as a way to pass down their heritage. When Christian missionaries began sharing the Gospel with this people group they used this symbol from the Tuareg's culture to teach them about the cross and Christ.

This cross has been a trademark of Nathan's student ministry over the years and has been passed to hundreds of times over the years. When a student passes the cross to another student they get the opportunity to tell that person how they see Christ in their life. The goal of passing the cross is to help students become united around the cross of Christ and passionate about sharing the Gospel of Christ with their friends.

So, if you see a funny looking necklace hanging around one of the teenager's necks this summer - ask them about the Tuareg Cross.
